Excerpt: . . . at the dinner, emphasized the nobility and uprightness of the attitude of America, which, he said, was fighting for the individual liberty, national freedom, peace, and civilization of mankind. The appearance of an American army at the front was certain to breathe new life into the gallantry and patriotism of the Allies. When Germany was crushed and the belligerents sat in a council of peace, he believed the voice of the United States would have great weight in determining the terms of peace, not for the belligerents only, but for the peace of the whole world. A clear and good understanding with the United States is most important for the present and the future, he added. This may be the reason and aim of Viscount Ishii's mission. Former Minister Hioki expressed the opinion that, in addition to the questions of the day, no question...
